

Pope, Come Clean

This year for the Peter's Pence collection, I'm sending advice rather than money. I'm quite capable of making my own contributions to disaster relief. Many reputable organizations deliver funds and services, including Catholic Relief Services, without going through your services. Given the hierarchy's track-record on handling sexual abuse of minors, I am sending a penny for your collection.

- 1. For the protection of children around the world, institute a zero-tolerance policy for those credibly accused of sexual assaults on children.
- 2. For the healing of the survivors, insist that bishops publish lists of all credibly accused and the parishes in which they served.
- 3. Don't ask for forgiveness until you and the bishops have amended your ways to act with transparency—just, inclusive & accountable.

Send the Bishops a message
Drop a penny and this appeal in the Peter's Pence envelope; this campaign coordinated by the chapters of Call To Action, www.cta-usa.org, as part of the grassroots "Send the Bishops a Message" campaign.

Pope, Come Clean

This year for the Peter's Pence collection, I'm sending advice rather than money. I'm quite capable of making my own contributions to disaster relief. Many reputable organizations deliver funds and services, including Catholic Relief Services, without going through your services. Given the hierarchy's track-record on handling sexual abuse of minors, I am sending a penny for your collection.

- 1. For the protection of children around the world, institute a zero-tolerance policy for those credibly accused of sexual assaults on children.
- 2. For the healing of the survivors, insist that bishops publish lists of all credibly accused and the parishes in which they served.
- 3. Don't ask for forgiveness until you and the bishops have amended your ways to act with transparency—just, inclusive & accountable.

Send the Bishops a message
Drop a penny and this appeal in the Peter's Pence envelope; this campaign coordinated by the chapters of Call To Action, www.cta-usa.org, as part of the grassroots "Send the Bishops a Message" campaign.

Pope, Come Clean

This year for the Peter's Pence collection, I'm sending advice rather than money. I'm quite capable of making my own contributions to disaster relief. Many reputable organizations deliver funds and services, including Catholic Relief Services, without going through your services. Given the hierarchy's track-record on handling sexual abuse of minors, I am sending a penny for your collection.

- 1. For the protection of children around the world, institute a zero-tolerance policy for those credibly accused of sexual assaults on children.
- 2. For the healing of the survivors, insist that bishops publish lists of all credibly accused and the parishes in which they served.
- 3. Don't ask for forgiveness until you and the bishops have amended your ways to act with transparency—just, inclusive & accountable.

Send the Bishops a message
Drop a penny and this appeal in the Peter's Pence envelope; this campaign coordinated by the chapters of Call To Action, www.cta-usa.org, as part of the grassroots "Send the Bishops a Message" campaign.

Advice from St. Catherine of Siena (1347–1380)

In the 14th Century, the Papacy had moved to the court in Avignon, was scandalously worldly and corrupt and was dominated by politics rather than the message of Jesus. Catherine waged a 20-year campaign to force the Pope to return to the Vatican. Catherine was proclaimed a Doctor of the Church in 1970.

Pope, Come Home!

If you are what you should be, you will set the world on fire. Nothing great is ever achieved without much enduring. Cry out with a million voices: it is silence that kills the world.

– St. Catherine of Siena

You are invited to join Call To Action, the leading Catholic organization working for justice, inclusion and accountability in the Church and the World.

www.cta-usa.org
2135 W Roscoe, #1N
Chicago, IL 60618
773 004-0004

Advice from St. Catherine of Siena (1347–1380)

In the 14th Century, the Papacy had moved to the court in Avignon, was scandalously worldly and corrupt and was dominated by politics rather than the message of Jesus. Catherine waged a 20-year campaign to force the Pope to return to the Vatican. Catherine was proclaimed a Doctor of the Church in 1970.

Pope, Come Home!

If you are what you should be, you will set the world on fire. Nothing great is ever achieved without much enduring. Cry out with a million voices: it is silence that kills the world.

– St. Catherine of Siena

You are invited to join Call To Action, the leading Catholic organization working for justice, inclusion and accountability in the Church and the World.

www.cta-usa.org
2135 W Roscoe, #1N
Chicago, IL 60618
773 004-0004

Advice from St. Catherine of Siena (1347–1380)

In the 14th Century, the Papacy had moved to the court in Avignon, was scandalously worldly and corrupt and was dominated by politics rather than the message of Jesus. Catherine waged a 20-year campaign to force the Pope to return to the Vatican. Catherine was proclaimed a Doctor of the Church in 1970.

Pope, Come Home!

If you are what you should be, you will set the world on fire. Nothing great is ever achieved without much enduring. Cry out with a million voices: it is silence that kills the world.

– St. Catherine of Siena

You are invited to join Call To Action, the leading Catholic organization working for justice, inclusion and accountability in the Church and the World.

www.cta-usa.org
2135 W Roscoe, #1N
Chicago, IL 60618
773 004-0004

